How To Use This Guide

This planning guide is to assist you in selecting your courses each term. Please read carefully, as some courses are only offered in one semester each year, while some are offered in multiple semesters each year.

Refer to your program page on the main website under programs and courses for a more thorough description of each course.

A description of common words and phrases can be found on the last page of this guide.

Graduation Requirements

To receive a certificate (Administrative Assistant, Financial Assistant, Medical Office Assistant) from the Office Administration program from Yukon University, a student must complete the following:

- Pass all certificate-specific courses, including FILD
- Obtain an average mark of 60% in all courses (with a cumulative GPA of 2.00 or C average across all courses)
- Meet Yukon University First Nations core competency*
- Apply to graduate by deadline

*All students graduating from Yukon University must achieve core competency in knowledge of Yukon First Nations. Completing the free online workshop, Yukon First Nations 101, is one way to meet this requirement.

For further details, visit Yukon First Nations Core Competency.

Open Studies Students

Open Studies allows students to take credit courses from a variety of subject areas and disciplines at Yukon University, for professional development, upgrading post-secondary qualifications, or general interest.

Through Open Studies, you can earn up to six credits in each term (typically two courses) without being enrolled in a program.

Credits earned may be considered toward a future certificate, diploma, or degree. To receive a credential, you will be required to apply, and be accepted, to a program. Please consult a program advisor for available Open Studies courses.

Please note that international students are not eligible for Open Studies without an authorization form. Please contact Registrations and Records at registrations@yukonu.ca or call 867 668 8710 ext. 2, for more information.

Full-time or Part-time Studies

For students who have applied to the Office Administration program, below is a sample sequence of courses to complete for each certificate. If you follow this plan, you should be able to graduate in ten months, provided you complete and pass all courses. You may choose to complete the certificate full-time in ten months or over two or three years as a part-time student. You may also complete two courses per term as an Open Studies student, and you can take courses in the Office Administration program, even if you do not plan to graduate with a certificate.

To complete a certificate, all students in the Office Administration program take core courses common to all three certificates in the fall semester. In the winter semester, students then choose courses specific to their certificate: Administrative Assistant certificate, Financial Assistant certificate, or Medical Office Assistant certificate.

Administrative Assistant Certificate-specific Courses

ADMN 102 - Office Procedures for Administrative Professionals

This course will focus on practical knowledge and skills related to office procedures, systems, and routines. Major topics in this course include time-management skills, project management, communications and customer service, meeting and event planning, minutes and resolutions, and presentations.

COMM 200 - Intercultural Communications for Business OR COMM 125 (not both)

To work towards reconciliation in Canada, The Truth and Reconciliation Commission has made calls to action for "skills-based training in intercultural competency." As new communication technologies improve connectivity and the world becomes increasingly globalized, intercultural competency is critical for business communicators, both locally and globally. In this course, students will practice listening, speaking, and writing to communicate with understanding, empathy, and awareness in intercultural community and business contexts. Through reflection on individual worldviews and recognition of cultural difference, students will explore skills-based solutions for developing intercultural competency.

Prerequisite(s): COMM 100

COMM 125 - Interpersonal Communications OR COMM 200 (not both)

Through guided reflection students are invited to analyze the ways they currently use communication, considering the contextual factors that impact professional relationships. Continuous analysis supports further development of their communication skills. Practice and feedback encourage students to become active, intentional, and self-aware communicators. This course fosters a foundation for relational practice in northern workplaces.

WP 220 - Advanced Word Processing

This course covers advanced features for creating, formatting, and editing complex documents. Students will use mail merge to create form letters, mailing labels, email and telephone lists. They will create multi-section reports with tables of contents using templates with styles and macros. They will customize Microsoft Word and automate their work using templates with auto text and toolbars, and they will create onscreen, fill-in forms.

Prerequisite(s): COMP 161

FILD 100 - Administrative Assistant Fieldwork

This is the culminating capstone course in the Administrative Assistant certificate and through this course, students will participate in four weeks of on-the-job training. Through mentorship, students will take on an administrative assistant role in a Yukon organization. Throughout the placement, students will reflect on this learning experience with feedback from their placement supervisor and instructor.

Prerequisite(s): Successful completion of all certificate-specific courses.

Financial Assistant Certificate-specific Courses

ACCT 125 - Intermediate Accounting

This intermediate course covers partnership and corporation accounting, combination journals and special journals; posting to accounts receivable and payable ledgers; payroll, general accounting adjustments, inventory control, and analysis of financial statements.

Prerequisite(s): ACCT 120

ACCT 130 - Practical Accounting Applications

This course builds on the foundational accounting knowledge gained in ACCT 120 and ACCT 125. In this hands-on, application-focused course, students will further develop their accounting skills by engaging with real-world scenarios and practical exercises. The course will provide students with a deeper understanding of how to apply accounting principles in day-to-day office administration tasks and organizational financial management. Through a combination of case studies, practical exercises, and collaborative projects, students will gain the confidence to apply accounting techniques in real office settings, ensuring that they are prepared for a range of accounting responsibilities in the workplace.

Prerequisite(s): ACCT 120

ACCT 300 - Computer Applications in Accounting

This course will introduce students to the practical application of accounting theory using Sage 50, an industry standard, integrated computerized accounting system. Students will become proficient in establishing company records, maintaining daily transactions using the general ledger, accounts payable, accounts receivable, inventory, and payroll features, as well as creating financial statements.

Prerequisite(s): ACCT 120

FILD 101 - Financial Assistant Fieldwork

This is the culminating capstone course in the Financial Assistant certificate and through this course, students will participate in four weeks of on-the-job training. Through mentorship, students will take on a financial assistant role in a Yukon organization. Throughout the placement, students will reflect on this learning experience with feedback from their placement supervisor and instructor.

Prerequisite(s): Successful completion of all certificate-specific courses.

Medical Office Assistant Certificate-specific Courses

MOA 100 - Introduction to Healthcare in Canada and the North

In this course, students explore the complexity of delivering health care in Canada and how policy shapes decision making within the health care continuum. Students will understand the basic framework of health care delivery in the Yukon and comprehend how the various health care providers interact inter-professionally and the role of government in defining the conveyance of health care to the public. In addition, students will work independently and in groups to solidify the knowledge gained and support personal, organizational, and community wellness by developing cultural awareness and applying principles of reconciliation in their daily lives.

MOA 101 - Medical Office Procedures

This course prepares students with knowledge and skills of office procedures in a medical office in the Yukon. Students will use medical office equipment and software to develop skills in appointment scheduling, reception, filing, preparing and handling laboratory samples and sterilizing medical instruments. Students will learn and use medical terminology for simple clinic procedures, perform baseline assessments on patients, and fill out medical forms and maintain a complete inventory of clinic supplies. Students will also learn Yukon Health Care Billing and Yukon Health Care Policies and Directives, which will help them complete medical forms and documents to support patients in receiving insured-health services in the Yukon. Lastly, students will learn techniques on therapeutic communication, verbal and non-verbal cues to equip them with empathy and advocacy to meet the needs of the patients.

MOA 102 - Basic Anatomy, Physiology, and Pharmacology for the Medical Office Assistant

This course will prepare students with basic knowledge on human anatomy, physiology, and pharmacology. Students will be introduced to the functions, interrelation of organs, disease processes and the effects of medication on body systems. The course will also present information on different methods of drug administration, drug groups and drug interactions. The knowledge that they gain from this course will help them work efficiently and assist physicians with their day-to-day clinic operations. This will also help them understand and provide support to their vulnerable clients. This course will not equip the MOA to answer patient's questions regarding their illness/medications but is to provide insight into why patients may be exhibiting certain symptoms at the time of the office visit. Indigenous ways of healing, alternative medications and over the counter medications will be integrated into each module.

FILD 102 - Medical Administrative Assistant Fieldwork

This is the culminating capstone course in the Medical Assistant certificate and through this course, students will participate in four weeks of on-the-job training. Through mentorship, students will take on a medical assistant role in a Yukon organization. Throughout the placement, students will reflect on this learning experience with feedback from their placement supervisor and instructor.

Prerequisite(s): Successful completion of all certificate-specific courses.

Common Words and Phrases

Credit is the unit of weight for university courses and range from 1 to 15 credits.

Grade Point Average (GPA) is a representation of academic achievement produced by dividing the total number of grade points earned over a period, usually a semester, divided by the number of courses or credits taken. See page 18 of the Academic Regulations for a fuller explanation.

Prerequisite is a course that you must complete with a satisfactory grade before enrolling in a subsequent course.

Semester is a portion of an academic year during which an educational institution holds classes. Recommended Sequencing Plan shows a program's courses arranged according to semester and are recommended to be taken in this order to complete a certificate, diploma, or degree.

Semester Starts and Ends

Fall = Either late August or early September through December

Winter = January through May

Student Responsibility

Students are responsible for the completeness and accuracy of their registration and for determining the requirements of their program. Always read course descriptions before registering to determine if you have the necessary prerequisites. Please refer to Academic Regulations and Important Dates for important information.
